Sermon: ..... I Corinthians 5:1-13

(1) It is actually reported that there is sexual immorality among you, and such sexual immorality as is not even named among the Gentiles; that a man has his father's wife! (2) And you are puffed up, and have not rather mourned, that he who has done this deed might be taken away from among you. (3) For I indeed, as absent in body but present in spirit, have already judged (as though I were present) him who has so done this deed. (4) In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, when you are gathered together, along with my spirit, with the power of our Lord Jesus Christ, (5) deliver such a one to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, that his spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus. (6) Your glorying is not good. Do you not know that a little leaven leavens the whole lump? (7) Therefore purge out the old leaven, that you may be a new lump, since you truly are unleavened. For indeed Christ, our Passover, was sacrificed for us. (8) Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, nor with the leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth. (9) I wrote to you in my epistle not to keep company with sexually immoral people. (10) Yet I certainly did not mean with the sexually immoral people of this world, or with the covetous, or extortioners, or idolaters, since then you would need to go out of the world. (11) But now I have written to you not to keep company with anyone named a brother, who is sexually immoral, or covetous, or an idolater, or a reviler, or a drunkard, or an extortioner; not even to eat with such a person. (12) For what have I to do with judging those also who are outside? Do you not judge those who are inside? (13) But those who are outside God judges. Therefore "put away from yourselves the evil person." (NKJV<sup>TM</sup>)

"Remove the Yeast from Your Bread with God"

Offertory: ..... TLH p. 12 f.

Hymn: ..... TLH 464: Blest Be the Tie That Binds

Offering, Prayers, Benediction: ..... TLH p. 14

Closing Hymn: ..... TLH 463, st. 1-3: For All the Saints

MORE WINDOW DRESSING:

“The Politico” is a publication of an American political journalism organization.. It distributes, including to congress, its content via television, the Internet, newspaper and radio. It reported recently (May 22) that a republican congressman introduced a bill that would declare 2010, “the Year of the Bible.” Those of long memory may recall that President Reagan, “with Congress’ blessing,” designated 1983 as “the Year of the Bible.” The latest resolution however is running into opposition. The opposition is coming from many sources, including members of congress. The atheists have not opposed it as much as they have dismissed it, saying, “Right now we’re seeing atheism on such a rise...We are seeing Christianity on such a dramatic decline that we’re not particularly worried about it.” Whether that is so or whether it is only wishful thinking we don’t know. What we do know is that declaring “the Year of the Bible” is not the antidote to atheism or any other anti-biblical and anti-Christian philosophy.

A congressman asked, “Does that mean 2009 is not the year of the Bible... what is 2012 the year of? The Quran[Koran]?” We are quite sure that there is more to the opposition of “the Year of the Bible” than simple fairness or politics. The opposition is rooted in rejection of Scripture and of Christ! While we are in every way far removed spiritually, theologically and philosophically from those in congress who oppose it, we can’t argue with the point made by the congressman. Can you imagine the howl if congress would in fact declare a year of the Quran (they wouldn’t, would they?)? The fact is that we live in the midst of a religious melting pot, and in a societal sense in this context what is good for one is good for all!

“The year of the Bible” resolution is quite meaningless. So what, if such a bill passed? Would everybody suddenly carry a Bible, respect it’s Author Who is God the Holy Spirit, and believe its content? Will such a resolution impress on people that the Bible is truth with respect to the origin of the world, sin, the person of Christ, salvation and in other matters of doctrine and life which it addresses? The author of the bill says of it, “This doesn’t have anything to do with Christianity,” but recognizes the role the Bible played in the building of the United States. As the morals and founding principles of this nation are under relentless attack, we sympathize with the congressman who introduced the bill. But we ask again, is “The year of the Bible” resolution going to change attitudes of those who have no respect for the Bible or for its substance? With all due respect, such a resolution is little more than a “feel good” resolution.

The Bible is more than a mantle piece, and is certainly not a political statement. The Bible is given to instruct men in the way of salvation through faith in Jesus Christ. “And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Timothy 3:15). Again we read, “These are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing ye might have life through His name” (John 20:31).

The Scripture lays before us the will of God, uncovers sin, and reveals man’s need for a Savior apart from Whom there is no salvation. The Word shows what is good and pleasing in the sight of God, and by the power of the Gospel produces in the regenerate heart the fruit that glorifies the Lord. The apostle tells us, “All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works” (2Timothy 3:16, 17).

Respect is shown the Bible when we teach the Word of God in its truth and purity, and lead a godly life according to it. No resolution produces faithfulness, Christian confidence, or the Christian life. The Spirit of God alone works such in the hearts of those who understand the Bible to be more than window dressing. “Blessed are they who hear the Word of God and keep it” (Luke 11:28). “These words which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart” (Deuteronomy 6: 6). “The Year of the Bible” resolution is as unnecessary as it is meaningless. Divine blessings flow to all in whose heart God’s Word dwells richly—to all to whom it is a lamp unto their feet and a light unto their path (Psalm 119:105).
